

The short film explores the complexities of the American Dream confronting Generation Z college students.

The T-shirt represents the themes of the course: sexuality, marriage, motherhood, class, race, identity, and religion.

The poetry was inspired by the themes of the class, looking at travelling and adventure from narratives around the world

The short story is based on the Adventure theme of the class.

Based on research, experience, and previous class assignments, the class created a self-care recipe book.

Students designed recipe pages to share meals of social significance

The class created a 3D symbol of resistance. Students worked on design, materials, building and finishing. Outcomes included successful completion through group work, time management, and incorporation of class themes. The project is a representation of women overcoming discrimination.